ALLIED SHIPS WINDING UP DARDANELLES FORTS

Ten Big Warships Resumed the Terrific Bombardment This Morning—Only Two Forts Left Uninjured—Charred Bodies Found in Deserted Forts Indicate Turks Burned Their Dead Before Evacuating—Turks Say Allies Have Not Reached Real Defenses Yet—Rebellion Broke Out in Italian Province—Austria Lost Much of Best Artillery—Reports of Continued Russian Advances—Sinking of German Submarine Confirmed—Germans Line Up Big Guns for Attack on Russians.
Asquith Refuses to Give Out Blockade Rules.

[By Associated Press.]
London, March 4.—The allied fleet resumed the Dardanelles bombardment this morning and ten big warships participated.
A British naval officer reported "only two Turkish forts remain intact."

Allied landing parties found the charred remains of soldiers in the damaged forts, indicating the Turks burned their dead before evacuating.
The only craft which either British or French authorities report as compelled to withdraw from the Dardanelles is the British torpedo boat destroyer Zephyr, built twenty years ago.

It was reported that certain big Krupp guns recently sent to the Dardanelles remain unmounted, and the allies' aeroplanes, in reconnaissance of the Dardanelles last night, seem to confirm this.

TURKS NOT WORRYING.

[By Associated Press.]
Berlin, March 4.—The Turkish Embassy here professes no worry over Constantinople. They declare the outer forts which the allies claim to have demolished were old, their early reduction was always expected and that the allied fleet has not yet reached the real line of defense.

Rebellion in Italian Province.

[By Associated Press.]
Rome, March 4.—A state of siege has been proclaimed in the larger part of Cyrenaica, a military division in the Italian possession of Tripoli.
Rebellion was the cause.

Austria Loses Best Artillery.

[By Associated Press.]
Geneva, March 4.—Apparently reliable reports say that Austria lost much of her best artillery in the recent fighting in East Prussia and Northern Poland. It had not been known the Austrians had engaged in this fighting. A total of thirty-two batteries of good sized guns were lost or destroyed.

Russians Reported Gaining.

[By Associated Press.]
London, March 4.—An unofficial Roumanian report says the Russians have reoccupied Stanislau in Galicia.
Although Petrograd last night reported the Russians had won a noteworthy victory, saving Przemyel from Austrian relief attempts, Vienna reports the Austrians repulsed the deperate Russian attacks in the Carpathians.

Sinking of Submarine Confirmed.

[By Associated Press.]
London, March 4.—The statement of the collier Thordis that she rammed and sank a German submarine off Beach Heads, appears so well substantiated that her crew will probably receive six thousand dollars reward for the first merchantman sinking a submarine. The dry dock showed the Thordis' propeller blade torn off and her keel badly damaged from ramming.

Germans Line Up Big Guns.

[By Associated Press.]
Petrograd, March 4.—The Germans have their great sixteen-inch guns before Ossowetz forts, where they are concentrating their efforts to break through the Russian lines. The battle there is increasing in violence.

German Statement.

[By Associated Press.]
Berlin, March 4.—(Official.)—Near Arras the Germans yesterday captured nearly a mile of French trenches with six hundred prisoners.

The French artillery recently shelled a column of French prisoners near Souaine, killing and wounding nearly forty.

The Russians' attack near Lomza failed with severe losses.
Otherwise there is no change on the Russian front.

French Statement.

[By Associated Press.]
Paris, March 4.—(Official.)—A French aviator blew up a German powder magazine at Rottweil yesterday.

The French advance in Champagne is two miles wide and nearly a mile deep.

Want Cotton Exempted.

[By Associated Press.]
Washington, March 4.—The American cotton interests are seeking to have cotton already bound for Europe, or contracted for, exempted from the British blockade. It is announced authentically the United States will insist upon its right to import dye stuffs from Germany if England continues to do so.

Not Reveal Blockade Rules.

[By Associated Press.]
London, March 4.—Premier Asquith declines to make known the nature of the British blockade rules, or how much German trade is cut off. He says it will be published later.

ITALY'S RESERVE OFFICERS CALLED

7,000 Already in Readiness, Declared Minister of War in Speech in Rome.

[By Associated Press.]
Rome, March 4.—General Zupelli, Minister of War, speaking yesterday in the Chamber of Deputies in favor of the bill authorizing the recall of reserve officers, said that at the end of this month 7,000 of these officers have been summoned to the colors.

"All classes in the Nation," he said,
"are asking to enter the army."

The War Minister declared those who had offered their services as volunteers furnished an inspiration to the public to meet "new needs for the defense of the Fatherland."

A bill presented by Premier Salan-dra to prevent espionage provides severe penalties for any attempt to obtain military information. Any one without authority entering a place where such information is obtainable is liable to imprisonment for from one to thirty months and a maximum fine of $600.

The Salandra bill authorizes the government, under certain conditions, to prohibit absolutely the publication of military news, providing a penalty of one year in prison or a fine of $1-000. If news of this character is supplied to a foreign country the penalty will be doubled. Provision is made for the government to take over control of every industry connected with the defense of the country, including wireless telegraphy and aviation.

The press of Italy is practically unanimous in arguing that with Germany attempting to blockade England and Great Britain retaliating with reprisals intended to cut off all supplies from Germany, those who suffer most are the neutral Nations, where conditions daily are becoming more serious, especially in those whose economic life depends chiefly on maritime commerce.

The Rome Tribuna urges neutrals to unite and affirm their rights "against the excesses of belligerents" by maintaining the validity of international conventions.
